What is claimed is:

- 1. An ND filter comprising:
- a substrate formed of a plastic sheet composed of a norbornene resin; and
- 5 a deposit film composed of a nickel-chromium alloy and deposited on a surface of the substrate.
 - 2. An ND filter according to claim 1, wherein said deposit film is composed of Chromel.

10

i 5 9 6

3. An ND filter according to claim 1, wherein said deposit film is formed of a Chromel layer and a silicon dioxide layer alternately deposited on the substrate, and a magnesium fluoride layer formed on a top of the deposit film.

15

4. An ND filter according to claim 1, wherein said filter has a plurality of regions having different light transmittances, said plurality of the regions having a different number of the deposit films.

20

- 5. An ND filter according to claim 4, wherein said deposited film is composed of Chromel.
- 6. An aperture device comprising the ND filter according to claim 25 1.